Honey Kirstine Malonzo began working for us as a graphic artist and illustrator on August 1, 2012 and continued with us as a full-time independent contractor for seven years. During that time, she has made great contributions to our way of producing illustrations and animations in support of our USA-based training and media development company. Honey Kirstine is not only a great illustrator; she is also a great visual designer and manager. We simply email her the sketches, make a few comments about what we were trying to accomplish for our customers, and she consistently brings our ideas to life.

She is an expert with Photoshop, Illustrator, and many other graphic arts software tools. In addition, she mastered the Camtasia timelines to showcase our stop-motion cartoon illustrations and animations. I couldn't begin to number the many contributions and solutions that she has brought to our teams. I am so grateful for her hard work attitude, dependability, and gracious spirit. I am very happy to recommend Honey Kirstine Malonzo to anyone interested in the talents and abilities of this rising star.

Please feel free to contact me directly if I can be of any further assistance.

Sincerely,

Daniel Scott McNamara
